

MOMENTS OF CALM

Nirvana comes in many forms, but for the owners of this Bal Harbour condo, it starts in the master bathroom.

Once enclosed in opaque glass that obscured a million-dollar view, it was completely transformed when vision glass took its place to open the space to light and the horizon. An exquisite, oversized sink replaced the traditional two-person, two-sink arrangement, while champagne bubble-inspired ceiling and backsplash tiles set the tone.

But the real moment of Zen? As the waves crash below, the tub fills from above.
